
21st Century Stem Cell Scientists: CIRM Creativity High School Interns, Summer 2013

This summer California's Stem Cell Agency (CIRM) sponsored high school interns in stem cell labs throughout California. During the internship, the students were asked to upload Instagram photos and YouTube videos about life in the lab, and write about their experiences. This video "mashup" edits together the students' video and photo submissions. For info, visit on Through Their Lens page.
